A ROUND OF TALK.

MISLEADING — The failure of the Democratic committee for this judical district to take any action towards calling a primary or convention to nominate candidates for Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney has caused some protest from candidates and prospective candidates The Hon. Finley Shuck of Marion, who wishes to be the next Circuit Judge took the matter so to heart that he appears in an "interview" in the Lebanon Enterprise of last week and taken a crack at the members of the committee whom he intimates were influenced and controlled in their action by Judge Charlie Patteson who will be a candidate to succeed himself and who is opposed to an early primary. In the course of his remarks about the committee meeting Mr. Shuck credits Mr. T Scott Mayes, the member from this county with making a statement which Mr. Mayes declares he did not make Mr Shuck quotes Mr. Mayes as saying that he (Mr Mayes) was not a candidate and would not be a candidate for either office. Mr. Mayes declares that what he did say was that he was not a candidate. He did not say that he would not be one. According to party law, a member of a county or district committee must resign if he should become a candidate for an office of the district or county. Mr. Mayes probably did not care to resign from a committee before which there is yet some important work because of the possibility of his being a candidate for an office to be voted on a year and a half hence. The truth is Mr. Mayes can hardly afford to disregard the importunities of his many friends throughout the district who are urging him to become a candidate, Mr. Mayes' fine ability as a lawyer and high moral character and integrity expressly fit him for the office of Circuit Judge and besides, Washington county should be entitled to the office next time any way.

* * *

MCCHORD—The campaign for Railroad Commissioner in this district is on and no less than five ambitious office seekers have started out to secure the office which has been so ably held down for several years by Charlie McChord. Mr. McChord who desires the office for another term is up and doing and his campaign is well organized. Like a good general he does not make the mistake of underestimating the strength of an enemy but has gone into the fight to win. From the present outlook Mr. McChord has his bunch of opponents beaten a mile and it is not likely that he will lose any strength between now and the date of the convention which will be in October of this year.

TOBACCO— There will be a poor crop of tobacco raised this season according to the reports of some of the farmers. Tobacco growers had hard luck and a bad start with the crop in the first place. The early plant beds failed and the cut worms played the mischeif with what plants that were put out. The season has not been favorable to good growth of the plant for some reason and unless there is a marked improvement from now on the tobacco crop in this conuty will be short and of poor quality.

* * *

COMPLAINT.—There is an almost universal kick from the local patrons of the telephone about the poor service received. Some months ago when the property and lines of the Washington County Telephone Co., passed into the hands of the Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Co., it was announced that the change would result in great improvements in the service and the users of the lines would have occasion to rejoice in a better and more up-to date service. Up to the present hour the service given to the local public has been of a nature more calculated to be a cause of annoyance and protest than otherwise Very little has been done to improve the equipment of the lines and exchange at this place and there appears to be no disposition on the part of the company to do so. Mr. Phil McChord the local manager, and his assistants we beleive are doing all they can to give the best service under the circumstances but the whole equipment seems to be in need of repairs and remodeling. We beleive that one of the conditions under which the Cumberland Company enjoys the exclusive privilege of operating an exchange in the town is that a good and satisfactory service be given the people. The town trustees are representing the people in that contract and it is up to those officials to see to it that the telephone company comes up with its end of the agreement or suffers the consequences.

CARELESS—We have had a number of complaints recently from subscribers who patronize certain small postoffices throughout the county of not receiving their paper. It seems that these postmasters in small offices have a careless way of running things Everybody's mail is open for inspection by any loafer about the store. Especially is this true of newspapers. There are a certain lot of dead beats too stingy to subscribe for the county paper who make practice of hanging around the country postoffice forthe purpose of getting their stingy hands on a paper addressed to some one else and devouring its contents The chances are two to one that the fellow then either throws the paper away or sticks it in his pocket to take home to the "old woman" to read and the real owner of the paper never sees it and consequently cusses the editor. The postal laws in regard to handling Uncle Sam's mail are strict and a newspaper is just as much mail matter as a registered letter. We have located some of these offenders and if these worth P. M.'s don't look a little out they may be called on to do a little explaining.

The State Primary.

United States Senator J. C. S. Blackburn endorses a democratic primary for all state offices, without equivocation or reservation. Senator McCreary has not been heard from, but as he is committed to the election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people it is reasonable to suppose that he favors the filling of all state offices through the same agency.

Without exception, so far as The Times knows, every Democratic Congressman in the state favors a primary.

Practically, the voters are everywhere unanimous in their advocacy of a primary. They believe that they are themselves as capable of choosing their state officers as is a convention and they are quite sure that the work can be done as honestly by a primary as by a convention—by the people as well as by a lot of office-hunters reaching out for the emoluments of place rather than looking out for the best interests of the party. In plain English, they are of the opinion that they are entirely capable of attending to their own business, without the interference of the convention middlemen. They demand a fair, free expression of their own wishes, and that matters in which they are most vitally interested be left to them for settlement. They know that they are honest and they know that conventions are frequently not.

And if any candidate fer any State office believes that The Times is misstating conditions or overstating the situation, let him take the stump in opposition to a state primary, and see what will happen to him. Not one of them dares attempt it.—Glasgow Times.

Heavy Loss

The flood situation on the Mississippi above St. Louis is growing worse hourly and has not a parallel in the history of that section of the river. The loss in Ohio, Missouri and Illinois points is estimated at $4,000,000. There is every prospect of this reaching $2,000.000 to $3000,000 more when the high water reaches the lower stretches of the river. The largest corn and wheat crops ever ready for harvest in the district are submerged and ruined.

No False Claims

The proprietors of Foleys Honey and Tar do not advertise this as a sure cure for consumption, They do not claim it will cure this dread complaint in advanced cases, but do positively assert it will cure in the earlier stages and never fails to give comfort and relief in the worst cases. Lebanon Locals.

From The Falcon.

A head-end collision between two fast freigh trains occurred on the main line of the L. & N., one mile north of Bowling Green, Saturday night. Two men were killed and several others injured. Both engines and twenty two cars were demolished and the company's loss is estimated at more than $100,000. The cause was an error in orders.

Mrs. Catherine Wilson age 84 years, fainted and fell on the floor of her room at her home on Water street. Monday, and sustained injuries to her hip that has given her serious pain ever since. Drs. Knott and McChord attended her but say there are no bones broken. Her friends fear that her injuries may prove more serious than was at first expected.

Mr. Monroe Greenwell, a prosperous farmer of near New Haven, brought his wife to Elizabeth hospital, Saturday, where she underwent an operation for a cancer, Sunday. Dr. McChord was assisted by Dr. J. I. Greenwell. of New Haven Mrs. Greenwell is reported as being very much improved and the hope is entertained that her life will be considerably prolonged.

Messrs C. B. Cleaver and Joe Spalding, who recently bought the Boldrick-Tennelly Cigar plant here, have dissolved partnership and Mr. Cleaver buys the plant here while Mr. Spalding retains the one at Springfield. Mr. Cleaver will manufacture the New South, Mynopia and Lebanola brands. He is now employing four men and will increase his force as business demands. He is a gentleman of high character and good business qualifications and he and his family receive a hearty welcome to our city.

The Springfield small boys came over Tuesday and defeated the Lebanon boys in a game of ball by a score of 26 to 22. If the Lebanon boys, large or small are tired of having defeat after defeat registered against them, we would advise going back to their recent custom of Lebanon vs Lebanon, then Lebanon is sure to win. We fear that should a Lebanon baseball aggregation win a game from a neighboring team the result would prove disastrous. The pent enthusiasm of our local fans has reached such a tensity that should the occasion present itself there is danger of an explosion.

Poisoning The system

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities, Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitts Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy healthy action of the bowels, These little pills do not act violently but by strengtaening the bowels enable them to perform their own work, Never gripe or distress, Haydon & Robertson.

Writes with Her Toes.

The curiosity seeker, loafer, and all the inhabitants of Court Square were highly entertained last Tuesday by the arrival on the square of Miss Ada Hendricks, the armless girl of Ansll, Pulaski county with her banjo. She appears to be 14 or 15 years of age and posesses an attractive face and has expressive blue eyes. She performs very skillfully with her toes on her instrument and accompanies the strains of the banjo with the sweet music of a tender pathetic voice. The banjo lies on the floor before her and she brings forth the music by the welltrained application of the toes. She writes very legibly and quickly and told with the pencil her name and post office. She is entirely dependent upon the generosity of the spectators for her living.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

A Summer Trip Unsurpassed on the Continent.

The trip to Salt Lake City or to the Pacific coast via that point over the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western is the most beautiful in America. No European trip of equal length can compare with it in grandeur of scenery or wealth of novel interest. Then Salt Lake City itself is a most quaint and picturesque place and well worth the journey. Its Morman temples, tabernacle, tithing offices, and church institutions, its hot sulpher springs within the city limits: its delightful temperature, sunny climate and its Great Salt Lake—deader and denser than the Red Sea in Palestine—are but a few features of Salt Lake City's countless attractions There are parks, drives canons, and beautiful outlying mountains and lake resorts. Imagine if, you can a bath in salt water a mile above sea level, and in water in which you cannot sink. Inquire of your nearest ticket agent for low tourist rates to Salt Lake City or write for information and copy of 'Salt Lake City,' the city of the Saints to S. K. Japanese Do not Swear.

Many good things can be said of Japan and Japanese, but nothing reflects more credit upon that people than the fact that profanity is a vice entirely unknown among them. In answer to an inquiry on this subject the Ram's Horn gives this interesting information. "Very high and competant authority asserts that there is no word in the Japanese language that is equivalent to an oath. Not only is there no native word in which profanity mav take refuge but there is no imported word. During the last ten years foreigners have added thousands of new words to the langauge but not one profane word. In this respect Japan is believed to stand alone among the nations.

Seriously Injured.

Mr. John Dorsey of Springfie'd who is employed as a farm hand at Nazareth, met with a very serious and painful accident yesterday afternoon about five o'clock. He was riding a mule attached to a binder which was cutting oats on the Nazareth farm, and about the hour above stated a heavy clap of thunder came, scaring the mules. They immediately began running and threw Mr. Dorsey to the ground. His legs were caught in the knife guards on the binder and horribly lacerated. The bone in the right leg, near the ankle was cut nearly in two. Sister Mary Brice of the Convent hastened to the injured man and put temporary bandages on the wounds. Drs. Rodman and Smith were called and dressed the wounds. He is getting along as well as could be expected.

Sister Mary Brice showed great presence of mind at the scene of the accident and it was through her timely assistance that Mr. Dorsey's life was saved.

The bolt of lightning which preceeded the thunder that scared the mules struck a tree near the depot at Nazareth, shocking Mr. John Mullican who was nearby. He soon recovered from the effects of the shock.—Nelson Record.

Bad Man.

The Louisville Times of Monday says: Sheriff J. B. Marshall Green county is in the city to take back E B. Logden, the moonshiner who completed his term at the county jail yesterday The sheriff will not secure his prisoner as Jailer Pflanz has received instructions from United States Marshal James to hold Logden, as the United States authorities wish to prosecute him on a three count indictment charging him with shooting at Deputy Collectors W. A. Hancock, W. L Archer and W. T, Hawkins while these revenue officers engaged in the discharge of their duty were raiding an illicit distillery in Green county Feb. 9, 1901. In commenting upon Logden the Courier Journal says he has three men to his credit, the first to fall being John A Burton of Lebanon. Mr. Burton says he did fall when the man opened fire on him but when quiet was restored he was still very much alive. He has since been elected sheriff of this county and is as ready and willing as ever to go after any violater of the law.—Lebanon Falcon.

As a result of the feud in Breathitt county James Cochrill Town Marshal of Jackson was assassinated by some enemy concealed in the Court House. The town is in a turmoil of excitement and more murders are looked for. Within the past eighteen months 36 men have been killed in Breathitt county. What a pity the hangman could not be given a chance in some of the mountain counties.

This should be a warning to collectors or "indians" as they are known in this country. A dispatch says that a young woman in Vienna murdered a jeweler by strangling him and then hacking his body to pieces. He had called to collect a bill.

W. B. Samuels Dead

Mr. W. B. Samuels died at his home, at Samuels, this morning at five o'clock, of typhoid fever and pneumonia, after an illness of about two weeks. Although he had been seriously ill he was thought to be on the road to recovery, and when death came suddenly it was a shock to the entire community.

Mr. Samuels was sixty years of age, having been born in Nelson county on May 18, 1852. He was a son of Wilson and Martha Stoner Samuels. In 1869 he established his present distillery in which he has been eminently successful. His reputation was unblemished and he was one of the most prominent distillers in Kentucky. He is survived by his wife who was formerly Miss Mami Barclay, and one son, Mr. Harry Samuels.

Deceased was one of the most prominent and influential men in the county and was exceedingly popular. At the outbreak of the Civil war Mr. Samuels enlisted in the Confederate Army and was a member of the company that went from Bardstown under the command of Col J. C. Wickliffe —Record.

Mrs. James E. Smith entertained at her lovely home Wednesday several of her young lady friends in a delightful way.

McINTIRE.

Everything is very dry and news is very scarce in this locality but will try to jot down a few little happenings of this village.

Will Cambron spent last Tuesday with J. E. Hill.

Mr. Robert Montgomery is not so well as he has been.

Our school has been dismissed this week on account of the Institute.

Mr R. P. Blanford and wife visited their daughter Mrs. Sidney Johnson.

Misses Etta and Dessie Hill were in Springfield on business last Saturday.

Sam Clements and wife of your town visited the family of J. B. Hill Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas Fields visited the latters brother Robert Hill the first of the week.

Marion Cecil received the sad intelligence of the expected death of his brother Clem of Davies county.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCullum Chas. Nally and Miss Teresa McCullum visited the Misses Blanford last Sunday.

Dr. J. Spencer Wright and his cousin Miss Maggie Smock of Hodgenville called on their relatives at Springfield Sunday.

Miss Teresa Graves eldest daughter of Mr. John Graves died at her home near here last Monday of spinal meningitis. Her remains were interred at St Rose cemetery.

WILLISBURG.

Mr. James Trent and wife of Louisville are visiting relatives at this place this week.

Edgar D. Wells and Miss Mary Grider attended the singing at Freedom last Sunday evening.

Rufus Foster of Pulliam is engaged in painting at Mr. John Perkins' at this place this week.

Mr. Charlie Blanton and daughter Miss Mary of Boston are visiting their relatives at this place this week.

Walter Wells of this place paid a call at the home of Miss Louise Settles last Thursday night near Maud.

Howard Terhune and Dan Yates of Cornishville called in our town last Sunday to see some of their lady friends.

Misses Margaret and Nancy Cheatham entertained quite a number of guests in a most charming manner last Thursday night. All report a jolly time.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT

Quite a number of people from this place attended the Institute this week. All report a grand time.

Mr. J. W. Reynolds of this place was called to see his little daughter who is very ill at this writing.

Miss Nettie Yates of Booker who was on the sick list has improved wonderfully, while visiting her many friends. We hope to make everything as pleasant as possible.

Quite a large crowd attended services here Sunday. The most highly honored were Mr. and Mrs. James Trent of Louisville. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Colvin.

PULLIAM.

One of our neighbors made a capital trade recently. He bought a dog for $10 and sold him at a profit of $10 by taking two hound pups at $10 apiece. He is apt to make his mark in the trading world.

John Colvin of Kirkland bought a farm of Bailey Pinkston of Pulliam for $3,000. Mr Colvin also bought of Satterly and Keeling their interest in the store at Pulliam. The company will be designated as Foster and Colvin.

Mr Josh Hooper and Lizzie Hatchett say they were married last week. They say Rev. Sims officiated. Mrs Hatchett was a widow, she having married a Mr Corn. Corn had stolen his wedding garments from a Mr. Morgan and was not permitted to live with his wife but about an hour when he was arrested tried and sent to the penitentiary.

We had a nice rain here Friday and Saturday. The prospect for corn and tobacco continues to be flattering. Oats are very fine in the community. Wheat almost an entire failure. There is scarcely any fruit. Mr. J. H. Cheatham made 8000 bushels of wheat in 1901, this year (1902) he made 600 bushels. Those who did not harvest their wheat fed it to hogs and by so doing have made at least $1 per bushel as hogs have been current at 6 cents. All lambs have been shipped from the community.

The following story was told your correspondent recently by a gentleman who had visited the State Prison at Frankfort, and the import of which is about as follows: Holly Stratton who is serving a life sentence in the prison for the murder of Newton Searcy in Anderson county, attempted to make his escape through a large pipe which leads the slop from the prison. It seems that he made his way very well to the end of the pipe, but when he got to the end, it was covered in a manner which prevented him from escaping. Mr Stratton then attempted to get back in his larger prison when he found it almost impossible to go backwards up the ascending pipe. Indeed, his progress was so slow that he was gone two days and nights before he reached a more comfortable cell.

ONE COWSKIN.

An Instance of German Military Thrift and Red Tapeism.

An instance of military thrift and of a red tape system which is not peculiar to Germany comes from the Prussian war office. In 1866 the guards were breakfasting hurriedly. They had on the previous day fought the battle of Soor and had accomplished altogether a nine days' march. This was not the era of canned meats, and to each regiment had been allotted a certain number of cattle which had been killed, skinned and cooked, but while the men were still eating scouts came in with the news that the Austrians were near at hand.

The men got into marching order and in a few minutes were in rapid advance toward the enemy. The Grenadier guards, conspicuous always for their dispatch, hurried to such purpose that they failed to secure the skin of a cow which had been made over to them for rations.

When the official who was responsible for the value of the hide came to ask for it, it had to be reported missing. Inquiries were set on foot, evidence was collected, and a voluminous correspondence lasting fourteen or fifteen months failed to account for the skin.

There had been a cow. She had been made over to the guards. She had a hide. The hide was government property, representing a sum fixed by official tariff. The government must be credited with that sum. The hide was not forthcoming. Who should be responsible for its cash value?

It was at last decided that the colonel of the regiment should be held accountable, and a year and a half after the conclusion of the seven weeks' war he was requested by the war office to remit the sum of 3 thalers, the price of one cowskin lost by the Grenadier guards. When the sum was paid, the subject was at last officially dropped.

One of Dean Swift's Sermons.

It was Dean Swift who preached a charity sermon on the text, "He who giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." Quoth the dean, after twice solemnly reciting the words of Holy Writ, "My brethren, if you like the security, down with the dust!" There was a noble collection that day in St. Patrick's cathedral.

Display of Wealth Unwise.

"There is nothing more unwise," said the friend, "than a needless and ostentatious display of wealth."

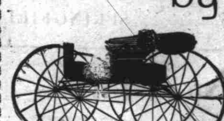

"That's right," answered Mr. Grip-per Sorghum; "there are enough people trying to get it away from you without issuing any challenges."—Washington Star.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock. J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should, expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

A Large Rattler.

Late Friday evening Mr James H, Mahoney and Mr. Ves Boone who lives near Howardtown killed an immense rattlesnake at the residence of the latter. His snakeship was in Mr Boone's house and had just crawled out when they first saw him and it is needless to say they took no time in sending him to the happy land of snakedom. It measured five feet and ten inches and had seventeen rattles and a button. Mr Mahoney brought the remains here where it was viewed by a number of people.—New Haven Echo.

Good Gospel.

A negro reformer has appeared in the South who preaches a homely common sense gospel to his race. He is an educated man but does not use high falutin phraseology. In an address at Mobile the other day he told his hearers that "the way to get rid of the 'Jim Crow car' is to get rid of the Jim Crow negro" that "20,000 bars of soap applied to the negroes who hang around railroad stations would solve 20 per cent of the negro problems, and that the ... negro does'nt need a ... dollar funeral." "The white man added this plain ... reformer, is organizing business enterprises, and the negroes are organizing societies to ... out at their own funerals." Speaking on religious matters the reformer was equally pointed. He held up to scorn "lazy, bare foot ragged fellows longing for silver slippers and ... white robes and counting themselves worthy, but neglecting to provide a home for their families on earth, while claiming a house not made with their hands in God's heaven."

CAUTION!

This is not a gentle word ... when you think how liable you are not to purchase for 75 cents the only remedy universally ... and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs Bronchitis, Croup and especially for Consumption where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world.

What is Life?

An exchange says: This is the ... of ... brisk and sweet ... from early dawn ... in the ... meals a day and ... which to ... night and worry about it. If he doesn't overwork he is called lazy and if he does overwork he goes crazy. He toils and saves through all the days of his youth so that when he grows old he can wear a silk hat and sit on the knee of luxury, but when his hair turns to snow and his whiskers grow thin and gray in life's afternoon, he finds he has been victimized and greviously buncoed by his own calculation and that rheumatism and worry have shattered all his dreams and punctured his hopes.

The crowning joy of womanhood is motherhood and the crowning joy of motherhood is to have healthy children. But there can be no joy in motherhood without health, and without health for the mother there can be no health for the child.

It is of vital importance for women to know that the health of mother and child is in general entirely within woman's control. The thousands of women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when expecting motherhood, have testified that it made them healthy and happy in the days of waiting, made the baby's advent practically painless, and gave them health to give their children.

Mrs. W. J. Kidder, of Hill Dale Farm (Enosburg Center), Enosburg, Vt., writes: "During the past year I found myself expecting maternity, and in rapidly failing health. I suffered dreadfully from bloating and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker each day and suffered much sharp pain at times. I felt that something must be done. I sought your advice and received a prompt reply. Took twelve bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became excellent, and I could do all my own work (we live on a good sized farm). I walked and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a short, easy confinement and have a healthy baby boy."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps for expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

COSTLY ACCIDENTS.

A Lost Tin Mine and a Lead Mine's Bottomless Pit.

Immense plans which seemed about to be completed, but have been brought to disastrous failure at the last moment, are frequent enough in the history of industry.

London Answers tells the story of a tin mine in England which might have yielded a fortune but for a storm.

With the finding of a new vein of ore running out toward the sea a new level was driven out below the water; then it was found that the lode bent upward too near the sea bottom for mining to be safely carried on. Undiscouraged, the owner borrowed money, built a sea wall to cut off the water, erected pumps and again went to work.

On the sixth day just as an enormous mass of rich ore was being tapped a gale came up, a ship was blown upon the wall, which went to pieces at once, and the sea drove the heavy stones in upon the thin roof of the mine. In a moment the workings were hopelessly flooded, and the owner was a ruined man.

A story equally tragic is told of the Speedwell lead mine in Derbyshire. Believing that a rich vein of ore existed in a nearby hill, the owner risked his entire capital to bore a tunnel 3,000 feet long into the heart of the mountain. Suddenly the miners broke through a wall of rock into a vast hidden cavern, through which flowed a stream of water.

They began to dump rock into the stream, and after 10,000 tons a bridge began to rise out of the darkness, and then their farther progress was stopped. Month after month they toiled, and at last, after 40,000 tons in all had been cast into the cavern, they gave it up.

That narrow rift is known to this day as the Bottomless Pit.

Yawns of Wrath.

The singular habit of signifying anger by yawning is confined to the monkey tribe and is most marked in the baboon family, though the Gibraltar apes also indulge in it. It is probable that the gesture is originally intended to frighten an adversary by a display of teeth, just as a dog does, and that the constant wide opening of the mouth produces an involuntary yawn. In fact, if a human being keeps on opening his mouth in this way a yawn will result. If two strange baboons are put together in the same cage, they immediately confront each other and commence yawning, and if vexed or insulted by visitors they will do the same thing.

Fat Crystals.

If small quantities of butter, lard and beef fat be separately boiled and slowly cooled for, say, twenty-four hours, the resulting crystals will show very marked differences under the microscope. The normal butter crystal is large and globular. It polarizes brilliantly and shows a well marked St. Andrew's cross. That of lard shows a stellar form, while that of beef fat has a foliated appearance. In course of time, as the butter loses its freshness, the globular crystal degenerates and gradually merges into peculiar rosette-like forms.

An Old Verb.

To laze is an old verb. In Samuel Rowlands' "Martin Markall," 1610, we are told that "loyterers laze in the streete, lurke in alehouses and range in the highwaies." The word occurs, I believe, in some of Mortimer Collins' lyrics:

But Cupid lazeth 'mongst the faiery lasses,
Whose clere complexion he oft sweareth passes.

—Notes and Queries.

Every one out of bed likes to claim occasionally that it is force of will power alone that is keeping him up.—Atchison Globe.

A Picturesque Mountain.

In Surrey county, N. C., there is a mountain whose outline displays a striking likeness to the sphinx of Egypt. It is in the northwestern part of the state, just east of the Blue Ridge range, and lies prone upon the Piedmont plains. At a distance of ten miles the figure is the exact counterpart of that of a gigantic lion, its body at right angles to the precipitous ridge and with head reared aloft as if in the act of rising.

Sympathetic.

Playwright—From the nature of my play you see it ought to close with some line or significant act from the hero in perfect accord with the feelings of the audience.

HE WANTED TO GO HOME.

Georgia Boy's Unique Excuse For Getting Out of His Work.

One Saturday in July, says J. H. Hale in the World's Work, I came upon a boy of fifteen or sixteen crying as though his heart would break. In reply to my inquiry I was told, "Mother is dead, and I want to go home!" Of course, I said to him, "Well, go and see the superintendent, and he will give you an order on the office." The boy moaned, "I dun see him, and he won't let me off till bell time."

This seemed hard when one boy's work would count for so little among several hundred, so I took him in the buggy and hurried back to the office, giving an order that he be paid off and let go at once; but I was politely told that "the superintendent's orders are that no one is to be paid till night."

After I had insisted in rather strong language that I might possibly be a bigger man than even the superintendent the lady assistant began a series of sharp questions, finally bringing out the date of "mother's" death as "de 26th ob last Feb'ry!" I sneaked off, realizing that there were some phases of the peach business I had better not meddle with.

Peachblow Porcelain.

The peachblow porcelain is of Chinese manufacture and is about 300 years old. It is not, as sometimes supposed, the designation of a particular shade of color, but a rare and peculiar glaze, which not merely covers the surface of the vessel, but penetrates the entire texture of the article, so that if the same be broken the internal structure is identical with that of the surface. The method by which this result is reached is unknown, and much money has been expended in vain to discover it. The ware is in a sense, therefore, the result of a happy accident.

Specimens of it are rare in China today, where it is prized as highly as anywhere else. Most of that of which there is definite knowledge was taken from China by the Dutch in the days when they monopolized the trade with that country and from Holland has made its way over Europe. The specimens in this country have almost all of them come either from Holland direct or by way of France, whither pieces of it were early carried by the Dutch, arousing unusual interest among the French potters.

Pearls Before Swine.

The evening was advanced when a venerable squire of ancient name and lineage arose to propose a toast. Seldom have I heard one more successful. He began modestly. It is always well to begin modestly. "I feel," said the good man, "that for a plain country squire like myself to address a dignified body like the presbytery of St. Andrews, including in its number various learned professors, is indeed to cast pearls before swine."

He had to pause long ere he got further. Thunderous applause broke forth. The swine cheered as if they would never leave off. We all knew perfectly what the laird meant. I was sitting next to him as he spoke the words. I heard them with these ears.—"Twenty-five Years of St. Andrews."

Date on Silver Coins.

Most people have an old silver coin of some kind which they are keeping as a relic either for sentimental reasons or because they think it worth more than its face value. In some instances the date or the inscription has been worn away and it is impossible to read it even with a strong glass.

The following method, originally practiced at the mint to discover the genuine coins when silver was called in, will enable any one to read an obliterated inscription:

Make the poker redhot in the fire and then place the silver coin on it. The inscription will be plainly visible in a greenish hue, which will fade as the coin cools.—London Chronicle.

Sparing Her Feelings.

"You don't write," the treasurer of the savings bank said gently to the old colored woman. "Just touch the pen." She did so, her business was concluded and her feelings were spared. The official might have said. "You can't write," and that would have been true, but the difference between plain truth and considerate truth is sometimes as marked as the distinction between a boor and a gentleman.—Youth's Companion.

Not What He Wanted.

Yerringer—This life is full of uncertainties. One can never tell what is going to happen.

Towle—Yes, I guess that's so. What is the matter just at present?

Yerringer—Oh, nothing much. Only I called on old Gruffam for his daughter's hand, and I got the old man's foot instead.—Boston Transcript.

BUSINESS INSTINCT.

A Wall Street Man's Trade That Was Not a Bad Bargain.

A prominent Wall street man told the following story on himself the other day, but made his hearers promise that under no conditions would they reveal his name, as he did not wish to be bothered by the beggar who figures in the story:

The Wall street man was walking with a friend down Broadway when at Twenty-third street he was accosted by a beggar. The man was more persistent than the ordinary mendicant, and to get rid of him the broker said:

"I will give you 50 cents if you will give me your coat."

"All right, boss," replied the beggar, and within a moment the change had been made.

The broker and his friend then turned back and went up Fifth avenue to their hotel. Still carrying the beggar's coat, the man of finance strolled into the lobby and began telling the story to his friends.

"I think you made a bad bargain," said one.

"Look in the pockets," said another.

And as the broker went through the ragged garment he pulled forth 45 cents in money, a silver tipped pipe, a flask of whisky and a pouch of tobacco.

"You see," he replied, "this only proves that I never make a bad trade, even when I don't know what I am buying."—New York Times.

Death, Ancient and Modern.

The art of the ancients would certainly seem to show that their conception of death was a much more cheerful one than that which has obtained in later times. It was at one time thought that the old Greeks and Egyptians had no artistic symbol for death, but this was a misconception. Death was almost invariably represented by them as the kinsman of sleep. The Greeks personified it as Thanates, elder brother of Sleep.

The Romans sometimes depicted Death and Sleep as twin children reposing in the arms of Night. The skull and crossbones and the skeleton as emblems of death do not appear to have become common until comparatively late Christian times. It has been suggested that the terrible famines and pestilences which scourged Europe during the middle ages were responsible for the fear or horror with which the modern mind is usually accustomed to look upon death.

He Remembered.

At a public dinner in New York one night the statement was made that the colored race had longer memories than white folk. Mark Twain, who was present, agreed with the remark and to prove it told the following:

"Some years ago when south I met an old colored man who claimed to have known George Washington. I asked him if he was in the boat when General Washington crossed the Delaware, and he instantly replied, 'Lor', massa, I steered dat boat.'

"'Well,' said I, 'do you remember when George took the hack at the cherry tree?'

"He looked worried for a minute and then, with a beaming smile, said:

"'Why suah, massa, I dun drove dat hack mahself.'"

FLOWER FRAGRANCE.

A Mysterious Sympathy Between the Essence and the Bloom.

One of the leading manufacturers of perfumery declares that he is quite certain that flowers possess souls. The fragrance of a flower is actually its soul, and it exists when the flower itself has perished. This is not a poetical fancy, he maintains, but is fact.

Certainly the fragrance of a flower is not a dead thing. This seems to be a curious statement to make, but it is a fact that when certain conditions are fulfilled a part of the life of a flower never seems to die.

Although the fragrance of flowers dead years ago may have undergone all sorts of manufacturing processes to extract it and to fix it, yet it never dies. When the flowers of the ... was extracted from bloom, it exhibits a marvelous sympathy.

Take, as an example, the case of jonquils. At the end of the year the smell of the perfume is constant, but in spring a change appears. In March when the jonquils are in full bloom the colorless liquid has its scent exalted to a surprisingly high degree.

When the flowers are in bloom, the bottled essence is very perceptibly stronger in odor. As the flowers droop, so does the perfume lose its potency in perfect agreement. This mysterious sympathy between flower and essence never ... but ever responds to the proper seasons.—Pearson's Weekly.
